DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cargin, Jr. et al. (US 6,023,147). The reference discloses a battery pack for powering a communication probe such as a radio having, inter alia, a diagnostic device connected to the communication probe and the battery. A switch is used to couple the battery to the radio based on the state of the diagnostic device (see column 13, lines 29-66). The batteries are made up of different kinds. The reference does not disclose a watchdog timer and/or an optical communication probe. It is a common knowledge in the art to have provided a watchdog timer for the purpose of saving battery charge whenever the device is not being used. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have used a watchdog timer in order to safely conserve power whenever the device is not active. It would also have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have applied the device to an optical communication probe in place of the radio probe, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 12/27/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that the reference does not show the switch selectively coupled the battery to the probe based on the status signal of the processor. The reference at column 13, lines 40-50 state that the switch 45 causes the battery to connect to probe 35 whenever the sleep mode circuitry 10 is in the active state (column 13, lines 54-60). The sleep mode circuitry maybe considered as a power status processor as claimed by Applicant.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
